This handy guide is designed to help everyone find their way around Victoria Hospital’s new wing. It includes helpful maps so you can get to where you need to go as well as useful information on planned service moves, public transport, car parking and new telephone numbers.
Travelling to the New Wing

Travelling by Bus

Two new bus stops have been built on-site near the new main entrance, allowing ease of access for patients and visitors. Many existing bus routes which had previously used stops on Hayfield Road and Durnikier Road will now serve these new stops.

To help you plan your journey you can use the dedicated journey planner on the NHS Fife website at www.nhsfife.org which will give you a personalised plan including details of where and when to change buses.

Cycling / Walking

New cycle racks are available next to the new main entrance, and for those with shorter journeys a downloadable map of walking and cycling routes around Kirkcaldy is available on the NHS Fife website www.nhsfife.org

Travelling by Car

If you chose to travel by car, patient and visitor parking is available around the site, including further disabled parking spaces.

Additional parking is also available at Whyteman’s Brae and Willow Drive.

Planned Service Moves

A lot of careful planning has gone into the move of services, including wide input from partner agencies, ensuring that all our moves are not only clinically safe but cause as little inconvenience to patients as possible. Contingency plans are also in place with both ourselves and our partners well prepared should there be, for example, severe weather.

- Victoria Hospital moves are scheduled to begin week commencing 19 December, 2011 - the start of the moves will see some services currently located at Victoria Hospital moving to the new wing including Cardiology, Coronary Care, haematology & Oncology and medical wards. Victoria Hospital’s A&E Department and Minor Injuries Service will also move to the new wing.
- Forth Park Hospital moves are scheduled to begin week commencing 09 January, 2012 - Forth Park services will move into the new wing including the Children’s Ward and Maternity Delivery.
- Queen Margaret Hospital moves are scheduled to begin week commencing 16 January, 2012 - services moving from Queen Margaret Hospital include A&E services, surgical wards, and the Renal Ward.

More Information
