Going for an Endoscopy

You have been having problems swallowing food and drinking.

The doctor wants you to go to hospital for a special test.

You can not eat or drink before you go for the test.
The doctor will give you medicine to make you sleepy.

The doctor uses a special camera because he wants to look in your belly. The doctor calls it your stomach.

The doctor will put the long tube in to your mouth and it goes in to your belly.
When you are ready you can go home.

Quality assured by Good Information Fife Team.

www.nhsfife.scot.nhs.uk/easyread