The Police will tell you what has been written down....

If the Police have got your story right you will sign your name.

If the Police have got your story wrong, the Police will write it again.

The Police might want to speak to you again.

This might be to check something with you.

This might be to ask some more questions.
If you are a witness this is what will happen……..

The Police will want to talk to you if you have seen something important about a crime.

The Police will talk to you almost anywhere.

This could be at home,

at the Police Station

or in the street

Tell the Police your name and address and what happened……..

The Police will write down your name and your address

This is so that the Police can help you.

The Police will want to talk to you about what has happened.

The Police will write down what you say.
